THE RINGING GAME IS GOOD.

The Detroit folks, who deal in ringers, used one of their utensils at Iron Hill, an outlaw track, last week and won a lot of money with it. The horse is said to have been Tarentum. If it was Tarentum, she must be a great deal better than she was in her early racing. The present head of the ringer syndicate is an instructive Detroitier, with a keen business angle. He is said to have an "ace in the local hole" for use this week. It will hardly be played. Colonel Clark is more than merely watchful these days. While DAILY RACING FORM doesn't believe in the "outlaw" edict, it does believe that turf law should be kept straight, and is enrolling a list of the horses and jockeys performing on "outlaw" courses at St. Louis and in Maryland. When the time comes this list will be printed in full. It is being kept in a systematic way.
